OHIO'S NEW GOVERNOR

JAMES M. COX.

MAHONING IN INTER-COUNTY HIGHWAY SYSTEM

Mahoning county will be an important link in the inter-county system of state highways and will have a share in the amount of work out its entire length, if the plan which the state highway commission is working up under Governor Harmon's direction to present to the legislature is adopted by that body at its meeting in January. This system will include between 9,000 and 10,000 miles of improved roads all over the state, connecting every important city and tapping the rural districts.

The routes are being selected by employees of the state highway department in conference with the commissioners and surveyors of the various counties. With this object in view, Arch Smith, one of the men working on the system, met with County Commissioners I. M. Haas, Sunday.

County Surveyor E. S. Smith Friday afternoon. He had made a thorough personal inspection of all the improved roads in the county before arranging the conference and came to the meeting loaded with information about road materials, construction, etc. He obtained from the surveyor some data on the places from which the road materials were obtained and the requirements for repairs and oiling.

Cost Problem Remains. The cost of the system cannot be estimated even approximately as this will depend on the amount of work necessary to connect the roads already improved. The system is not being planned with reference to the present improved roads, but rather to accommodate the great amount of traffic and get the best use of the money.

Where the routes leave the improved highways, the state will improve the necessary roads, while roads already improved will be maintained as far as they form a part of the inter-county system.

The Good Roads Federation prepared a tentative plan when the constitutional amendment to issue $50,000,000 in bonds was under consideration, but this plan was a crude affair, connecting only the county seats in the largest city, while in other cases there are other important cities in the county. The present system is the most comprehensive ever prepared.

If adopted, it will give the state the best of road systems in the country. Since the road amendment was defeated, the legislature will have to look to other sources for the money, if the plan is adopted, and the one which seems the most feasible is a direct tax levy throughout the state.

Local Plans in Detail. Mr. Smith had prepared a map of routes through the county from his observations and in connection with the general state system. This, with a few slight changes, was approved by the commissioners and surveyor. It takes in many of the roads already improved, but will also mean the building of many miles of additional roads. The county and townships will be relieved of all cost of maintaining these roads.

From Youngstown, one route goes out the Hubbard road into Trumbull county to form a part of a road to Ashtabula, East by way of Struthers, a route goes into Pennsylvania, either turning east at Covert's Corners, or following the river through New Castle, New Bedford, New Wilmington, Middlesex, Pulaski, Sharon and Mercer in Pennsylvania, in addition to the towns down the river, South out the Poland-Petersburg road, Lowell, New Springville, and then to the Poland-Corners road, a route will lead through Canfield and connect with a road to Sebring and Alliance and ultimately with Massillon and Canton, West, by way of Austinburg, a route leads through North Jackson, Palmyra and Ravenna to Cleveland. Out West Federal street, a route leads through Girard and Niles to Warren, where it connects with several routes west and north.

Other County Routes. In addition to these routes out of Youngstown, a route is planned along the southern line of the county from the state line west through Columbiana, Salem, Damascus and Beloit into Schriber and so on west. A route that has Akron for its destination will pass through the township centers of the middle range of townships, Poland, Boardman, Canfield, Ellsworth and Berlin. A Cleveland route passes through the southwestern corner of the county, passing through North Benton on the way. Towns of importance not reached by these routes may be connected with them by spurs.

Most of these routes follow improved highways, but an entirely new route between Warren and Salem was laid out, requiring the improvement of the road almost its entire length. The route as selected passes through Niles, thence south through Mineral Ridge, Austintown and Canfield, Calla and Green village to Salem. Another route, picked as a second choice, is more direct, but does not reach as much population. It is farther west, passing through North Jackson, Ellsworth station, Ellsworth center and New Albany into Salem.

These routes will be included in the report on the road system as Mahoning's portion of the plan and if adopted will give the county many new roads in addition to systems already in use. The plan will be communicated with adjoining territories and through this to all parts of the state.—Telegram.

Nov. 7.—The agony is over. This section of the great American people has spoken in no uncertain voice and the country is saved again. However, notwithstanding the country's assured or re-assured salvation, there are even yet weeping and wailing, and gnashing of teeth.

The republicans elected their entire county ticket by big majorities but that is about the only comfort they got out of Tuesday's contest. Wilson and Cox carried the county by good majorities.

This is getting to be a town of much murder. If a month passes without such crimson stain it is considered next door to a miracle and the minor shooting and clubbings and cuttings that do not result fatally, are so common they are accorded small attention outside the realms of the police.

The windup Democratic meetings of the campaign last Thursday evening was electric with enthusiasm, the meeting being in St. Columba's hall and the speakers U. S. Senator Allice Pomerene and Congressman John J. Whitacre. They sat side by side on the stage and were loudly cheered.

Order was called by county chairman George B. Snyder, who introduced the permanent chairman, Attorney Geo. J. Carew, who first presented Senator Pomerene. He lauded Congressman Whitacre, who in turn turned after Hon. E. H. Moore, among other things charging that E. H. roasted Gov. Harrison till the latter gave him an appointment paying $500 a month.

Moore says—But what's the use? It's all over now and even already is becoming ancient history.

There is no longer hope that negro Fred Fawcett was here on a charge of killing Patrolman Alfred Evans in west Front street a year ago, will ever reach this city for trial, as he has been sent up for 34 years for burglary by the court in Mt. Vernon.

Chief W. W. McDowell says the state has a clear case on circumstantial evidence. He is now in Sing Sing and, as he is 44, it is unlikely he'll ever be doing nearly as well as that is even worse punishment than the rope or electric chair.

Owing to the death of Vice President Sherman, Mayor F. A. Hartenstein last Friday issued a proclamation that all flags, either on public or private buildings be placed at half-mast as a tribute of respect to the illustrious dead.

The Youngstown Dental society is, it is announced, about to begin to give picture shows for the benefit of the dental society. It is praiseworthy that this is or is to be done by the dental society, and not by the public schools, though it is singular the schools have not already taken it up. Now they are doing nearly everything including sewing, bread baking, mud moulding and the Lord knows what else. Nearly everything that comes along, if it's a fad, is given a glad hand. And yet it is reported some of them wonder why it is the funds are short.

Louis Beballo tells the police his wife, 24, and a boarder, Joseph Bowman, aged 30, have eloped, she leaving two little boys behind. It is said Bowman has a brother in Beaver Falls, Pa.

Mary Callahan, a Hallowe'en celebrator, while making Romeo howl Thursday night, she in boy's clothes and having some rum under her belt, was stabbed by a blackman, Dollar Bill, who forcing his attentions on her, was repulsed. She was cut in the right side over the kidney and had been doing the East End with negroes. She was taken to the City hospital.

Suit for $625 against the Erie R. R. Co. has been brought by Mrs. E. R. Loveland, a farmer with land along the right of way in Green township. He alleges destruction of his oats field by leakage and the burning of pasture set on fire by locomotive sparks.

Monday, Nov. 11, Judge Barnum will resume the trial for criminal cases, of which there are yet 14, among the cases that of Copex, charged with second-degree murder.
